Item 8.01. Other Events.

As previously disclosed, on August 5, 2020, Livongo Health, Inc. (“Livongo”) entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “Merger Agreement”) with Teladoc Health, Inc. (“Teladoc”) and Tempranillo Merger Sub, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Teladoc (“Merger Subsidiary”). Upon the terms and subject to the conditions of the Merger Agreement, Merger Subsidiary will merge with and into Livongo (the “Merger”), with Livongo surviving as a wholly owned subsidiary of Teladoc. Pursuant to the Merger Agreement, at the effective time of the Merger (the “Effective Time”), each share of common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of Livongo (“Livongo Common Stock”) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time (other than shares held by any shareholder who properly demands and perfects his, her or its appraisal rights with respect to such shares and treasury shares held by Livongo), will be converted into the right to (i) receive 0.5920 of a share of common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of Teladoc and (ii) $4.24 in cash, without any interest thereon. In addition, prior to the Effective Time, Livongo will declare a special cash dividend (the “Special Dividend”) equal to $7.09 per share of Livongo Common Stock to shareholders of Livongo as of a record date immediately prior to the Effective Time.

For U.S. federal income tax purposes, the Special Dividend is intended to be treated, and will be reported by Livongo, as a distribution by Livongo within the meaning of Section 301 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and not as consideration paid for Livongo Common Stock in the Merger. Assuming this intended treatment is respected, the Special Dividend will be treated as a dividend for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent paid out of current or accumulated earnings and profits of Livongo. To the extent the amount of the Special Dividend exceeds Livongo’s current and accumulated earnings and profits, the excess will first be treated as a tax-free return of capital, causing a reduction in the holder’s adjusted basis in its Livongo Common Stock. If such basis is reduced to zero, any remaining portion of the Special Dividend will be taxed as capital gain, which would be long-term capital gain if the holder has held the Livongo Common Stock for more than one year at the time the Special Dividend is received.

The process of determining current and accumulated earnings and profits requires a final determination of Livongo’s financial results for the year and a review of certain other factors. Based on Livongo’s current estimate of its current and accumulated earnings and profits, it expects that none of the Special Dividend will be paid out of its current or accumulated earnings and profits, and thus Livongo expects that the Special Dividend will be treated as a tax-free return of capital (to the extent of a holder’s adjusted basis) and that none of the Special Dividend will be treated as a dividend for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In connection with the Merger, Teladoc filed a registration statement on Form S-4 (File No. 333-248568) with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”) containing a prospectus of Teladoc that also constitutes a definitive joint proxy statement of each of Teladoc and Livongo. The registration statement, as amended, was declared effective by the SEC on September 15, 2020. Holders of Livongo Common Stock should review the definitive joint proxy statement, which provides additional details regarding U.S. federal income tax considerations related to the Special Dividend, and consult their tax advisors regarding any alternative characterization of the Special Dividend, including as consideration received in the Merger in exchange for their shares of Livongo Common Stock, and as to the tax consequences of the Special Dividend in their particular circumstances.

These risks, as well as other risks associated with the potential transaction, are more fully discussed in the joint proxy statement/prospectus filed with the SEC in connection with the proposed transaction. Neither Teladoc nor Livongo assumes any obligation to update any forward-looking statements, except as required by law. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements that speak only as of the date hereof.
